

6 New NYC Hotels To Visit Right Now

Who can resist the call of New York City in the fall? As Manhattan cools off, the city's energy only begins to heat up, and a slate of new hotels welcomes visitors looking to get into the action. If you have not found a reason to visit the Big Apple lately, these openings provide enough of a reason to plan your next trip.

Just like Manhattan's population, the below six hotels are diverse in terms of location — the island's East and West sides, uptown and downtown are all accounted for — look and feel. Rooftop bars, skyline views, incredible architecture and world-class dining await. Read for our guide to the best of the new in old New York.

Every room comes with city views. THE RITZ-CARLTON NEW YORK, NoMAD

The Ritz-Carlton New York, NoMad

The NoMad skyscraper strongly appeals to every kind of hotel guest. It's convenient enough for business travelers and lively and sufficiently luxurious for those in town for pure pleasure. José Andrés' buzzy Mediterranean restaurant Zaytinya and rooftop cocktail bar Nubeluz lure in both locals and staycationers alike. Even the most jaded New Yorkers will find themselves wowed by the panoramic view of the city from the rooftop bar. The vistas from the rooms will impress as well — accommodations point south and overlook downtown. No matter your reason for visiting, the hotel's spa serves as a refuge from the nonstop bustle of the city.